Another New Roof: The Rectory roof was replaced this past week and looks great. This work, combined with the chimney replacement, marks the completion of our major maintenance project for this year. It adds to the significant investments made in the Rectory property in recent years. Thanks for your support, and to MacBeth Brothers Roofing for their expertise and prompt completion of the work. Of course, there are still numerous projects on our To Do List reflecting the reality of five structures dating as far back as 1869.

Congratulations: Congratulations to Edie Rogers who was named Charlottetown's Volunteer of the Year for 2025! Her award was presented by Mayor Philip Brown on Natal Day. Well Done!

AUGUST 12th CHARLES INGLIS, BISHOP (1734 - 1816) The son of a priest, the Rev'd Archibald Inglis, the rector of Glencolmille, Donegal, Ireland. In 1758 he was ordained as a priest in London and served for several years in the colony of Delaware before moving to Trinity Church in New York in 1765. Following the British occupation of New York in 1777, Inglis was promoted from curate to rector of Trinity Church. As a Loyalist, it is recorded that Inglis prayed aloud for King George III while George Washington was in the congregation. In November 1783, upon the evacuation of Loyalists from New York, Inglis returned to England. On 11 August 1787, George III created the Diocese of Nova Scotia by Letters Patent, and named Inglis its first bishop, the first Church of England bishop in North America.

AUGUST 13th HIPPOLYTUS, DOCTOR AND BISHOP (170–235). was the most important 3rd-century theologian in the Christian Church in Rome, where he was probably born. He is described in the early Church, as a disciple of Irenaeus, who was said to be a disciple of Polycarp, who was in turn a disciple of John the Apostle. He is remembered especially today as the author of the Apostolic Tradition, one of the earliest descriptions of Christian worship, which shows a remarkable continuity in the content and structure of the liturgy.

AUGUST 13th JEREMY TAYLOR, BISHOP (baptized 15 August 1613 – 13 August 1667) was a clergyman in the Church of England, who achieved fame as an author during the Protectorate of Oliver Cromwell. He is sometimes known as the "Shakespeare of Divines" for his poetic style of expression, and he is frequently cited as one of the greatest prose writers in the English language. e.g. this prayer which is included in the Book of Common Prayer on page 599:

O GOD, whose days are without end, and whose mercies cannot be numbered: Make us, we beseech thee, deeply sensible of the shortness and uncertainty of human life; and let thy Holy Spirit lead us in holiness and righteousness, all our days; that, when we shall have served thee in our generation, we may be gathered unto our fathers, having the testimony of a good conscience; in the communion of the Catholic Church; in the confidence of a certain faith; in the comfort of a reasonable, religious, and holy hope; in favour with thee our God, and in perfect charity with all men. Grant this, we beseech thee, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

AUGUST 15th FALLING ASLEEP OF THE BLESSED VIRGIN MARY. The commemoration of the death of the Virgin Mary at the end of her earthly life. The use of the term "Falling Asleep" expresses the belief that the Virgin died without suffering, in a state of spiritual peace. This belief does not rest on any scriptural basis but is affirmed by sacred tradition. Sacred tradition also tells us that Mary died a natural death, like any human being; that her soul was received by Christ upon death; and that her body was resurrected on the third day after her repose, at which time she was taken up, bodily only, into heaven when the apostles, miraculously transported from the ends of the earth, found her tomb to be empty. For Anglicans this is a matter of pious opinion which we are not required to believe.

from The Crown of the Year by Austin Farrer, weekly paragraphs on the Holy Sacrament. I shall presently invite you to make confession, and shall be praying for your absolution. The washing of the disciples' feet at the Last Supper according to St. John's Gospel fitly expresses the absolving power of the eucharist. Baptism, St. John conveys to us, is the bath by which the Christian people has put off uncleanness once for all; Holy Communion is a foot-washing by which the dust of daily sin is daily washed away. Jesus said to Peter at the supper: 'Unless I wash thee, thou hast no part with me.' The Son of God knelt before Peter to wash his feet; the Son of God had humbled himself to be a man, and was presently to die for our cleansing on the altar of the cross. You will gratefully and firmly believe that you have full cleansing in this sacrament, from your laziness and irreligion as well as from more positive offences. Go out carrying your cleanness before God, and when you fail, your remedy is always here.
